Hanged.

PITTSBURG, Mass. Aug 16—John Teneyck colored, was hanged here this morning for the murder of Mr and Mrs David Stillman, at Sheffield, on the 29th of November last He confessed other crimes, but denied the murder of Stillman

Yellow Fever.

MEMPHIS, Aug 15—Thirty three new cases of yesterday six deaths are reported from 9 last night to 9 to night, the 15th The Memphis and Grenada and M. & L. railway have stopped running their trains. Nearly all the towns in all directions are quarantined against us. Several of the largest business houses in the city will close to morrow and remain closed till after frost

NEW ORLEANS, Aug 15—A Grenada special says: Last night was fearful on yellow fever victims. The deaths the last 24 hours were the largest since its appearance. There are ten or twelve new cases There was great excitement during the day, many flying the town. The population is now reduced to not over 400. Total deaths 45 The number of cases down is estimated at 150 New Orleans physicians pronounce it the most virulent type. The distress is too fearful to contemplate.

UNION CITY, Aug. 16—The city is quarantined against all roads.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 16—The Times editorially says: Some remarkable features that characterized the fever in its incipiency continue to character ze it now and in what may be regarded in its matured and developed form. Fully 60 per cent of the deaths is of foreigners or unacclimated people, and fully 75 per cent. of the remainder is of children Its very rarely that we notice the death of an adult born here or who had lived here any length of time and of whom it can be said he or she received even moderate attention It is true that a good many native adults have been affected, but the attack in nearly every instance has been light and manageable, and but for the scare would hardly have excited comment. So far it is distinctly the children's year.

Explosion.

NEW YORK, Aug 16—A tugboat exploded this morning off Staten Island, and Capt Murphy and Engineer Getlen died of their injuries.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Decision in regard to R. R. Lands.

WASHINGTON, Aug 15—The secretary of the interior has decided that the grant of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company attaches to lands acquired under the Sisseiton and Wahpeton treaty outside of the reservation, they having been acquired prior to the definite location of the road, and that the settlement of claims upon the granted sections were excluded by the sixth section of the act of July 2d, 1864, making a grant to the company. The decision determines the right to a large tract in Dakota. The Hay land settlement on these lands was in violation of law and treaty obligations, the Indian title not having been extinguished at the time of settlement thereon and the withdrawal of the company having preceded the extinguishment of the Indian cities

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Death of a would-be Regicide.

BERLIN, Aug. 16—Emil Hoedel, who attempted the assassination of Emperor William May 11th, n Ave Unter den Linden was beheaded this morning in the courtyard of the new prison. The imperial warrant declaring that justice should take its course was signed on the 8th of the present month Hoedel's age was about 21 On the trial he protested that he had not intended to take the life of the emperor but sought to sacrifice his own life in a public manner in order to create sympathy for the suffering people, but numerous witnesses testified that Hoedel leveled his weapon direct at the Emperor Parliament Prorogued.

LONDON, Aug 16—The session of parliament was prorogued to-day by the queen until the 2d of November 1878. German finances are in a bad way The French indemnity seems all that keeps the empire afloat When that is gone must come increase of taxes, popular discontent, and perhaps popular revolution

The Union Pacific company has already spent over $100,000 in constructing the stone "rip-rap" at Omaha, intended to protect the shore from the current of the Missouri river, and the work is not half done yet

White Sulphur Springs were sold at auction immediately after the adjournment of the army reorganization committee One would think that Atlantic City would like to sell after entertaining the Potter committee

Governor Bishop of Ohio has lived within his salary It appears in the examination of the bankrupt firm of Bishop & Co before a committee of creditors that he has drawn only $150 out of the business since his election as governor

The 149th New York regiment of Syracuse hasn't any doubt about the reality of the battle of Lookout Mountain as a part of the contest around Chattanooga The adjutant named regiment had eight killed and forty eight wounded captured two pieces of artillery three stand of colors and 1,000 prisoners

The Marquis of Lorne has a respectable income from an endowment by his father and will get $50 000 a year as governor general of Canada His wife the Princess Louise has a parliamentary grant of $30 000 a year and altogether the young couple ought to get along very comfortably in Canada if the times are hard

The Indianapolis News says "In one of our Indiana towns a lady remarked to a female friend with perfect nonchalance I am quite sorry my husband's creditors did not accept his proffer of settlement Ithey had we would have cleared $ 000 Ny wife's pecuniary embarrassment kept us from entertaining as a proclaimed candidate playing the fiddle

THE FOULEST MURDER YET.

The Tullis Murder in Sacramento County—A Confession by the Public Administrator that he Instigated It.

DYE'S BATH

SAN FRANCISCO Aug 16—Troy Dye public administrator of Sacramento county has made a full confession concerning the recent murder of A M Tullis on Grand Island He confesses to having instigated the murder for the purpose of getting control of the estate of the deceased His motives as per statement of Dye of Edward Anderson a Swede farm hand in his employ and another party name not yet ascertained Anderson has also made a confession corroborating that of Dye Anderson was to receive $1 000 for the job They had previously tried to kill Tullis by poison They had also discussed the murder of their victims The details are replete with exhibited cruelty Dye has heretofore borne a good reputation in the community and his connection with the affair has created the utmost surprise and excitement The details of the confessions of Dye and Anderson are to the following effect

Dye had found the office of public administrator unprofitable and had remarked occasionally in jest that he would have to kill a man to make it pay The idea obtained a deep hold on his mind and he took Anderson whom he had for a long time employed in his butcher shop and another party yet unknown into his councils Dye and Anderson charge each other with being the tempter They finally fixed on Tullis as a victim Dye had been his friend and neighbor for 12 years and knew the value of his property and as Tullis had never been communicative concerning his family affairs it was supposed he had no relatives to claim the estate Over two months ago Anderson and the unknown party went to Tullis place to put the plan into execution but their courage failed them Discouraged the crime persistently and Anderson conceived the idea of a murder by poison A bottle of poisoned cocktails was prepared in a saloon kept by Dye & Clark in Sacramento and Anderson went to Tullis ranch ostensibly in search of work, and gave him the bottle after taking a number of drinks together from a bottle of good liquor and left For some reason this plot miscarried It was then decided that bold work was required A boat was built at Dyes house Sacramento Anderson pulled it down the river and was joined by his confederate below the city and they proceeded to Tullis ranch, found him in the orchard and knocked him down with a sand bag, and shot him in several places This was the evening of Thursday the 1st inst, at 7 o'clock Dye that evening staid at his house in Sacramento till 8 o'clock entertaining a visitor He excused himself and took a buggy drove down the river about 15 miles met the assassins at the place appointed and drove them back to Sacramento During the ride they related all the circumstances of the murder to Dye The trio returned much under the influence of liquor Dye says Anderson had revealed to him the crimes of his past life, including the murder of two sheep herders in vicinity of Sacramento Dye's plan for getting on the estate of Tullis was to compound with the creditors His legitimate commissions would have been about $3 000 Dye has always borne a good reputation but parties now coming forward affirm he was a bush whacker during the late war and pillaged and murdered indiscriminately The confessions cover about eight closely printed columns developing every stage of progress to the commission of the crime Neither party will be allowed to turn state's evidence and the district attorney is confident of convicting both

CLOUD BURST.

Austin, Nevada, Completely Wrecked.—Immense Damage to Property and Loss of one Life.

AUSTIN, Nev, Aug 16—Austin has again been devastated by a terrible calamity in the shape of a cloud burst Last Wednesday the clouds commenced to gather and that night there was a light shower of rain Yesterday, during the day, the clouds gathered thickly the atmosphere was close and sultry, and the fears of people were aroused and such preparations as could be made in the shape of barriers were got in readiness for the emergency But everything proved of no avail when the flood rushed upon us at 20 minutes to 4 P M. A heavy rain accompanied by hail commenced to fall and in a few moments a small flood commenced pouring down Cedar street which forms the water shed of the hill lying on the north side of the town Main street is the bed of the canyon and is the water shed for a large area of hills Gradually the water began to cover the surface of Main street and in a few moments the bed of the street was a raging torrent running a river from three to ten feet in depth Destruction marked every step of the torrent's path. The Reveille office a one story brick, was the first building to go, then followed sidewalks, porches, awnings merchandise cattle wagons wood, timbers and fragments of small buildings Fortunately, the residence portion of the town is situated on the hills at the side of main canyon, and most of the women and children were out of danger and such as were not were hurried to a place of safety One man named Sparnum was washed out of the Philadelphia brewery at the lower end of the town and later in the evening his body was found over a mile below stripped naked Main street is completely gutted, and every house filled three or four feet deep with sand and debris The entire street is a wreck The Reveille office is a complete ruin One of the compositors in the Reveille office had a narrow escape for his life. When the building commenced to fill with water he climbed to some timbers supporting the roof and when the crash came he was buried in the ruins, but managed to break through a skylight and escape It is impossible at this time to give the amount of damage or details concerning it Suffice it to say that there is not a business man or house in town that is not more or less injured The total loss will approximate fully $100 000 The Manhattan mill pan room floor was covered with sand to the depth of two or three feet which is all the damage done to the property of that company This morning men are at work clearing away the ruins, and the pretty little town of yesterday morning is now a sorry sight of wreck and devastation which it will take months of time and thousands of dollars in money to repair Owing to the flood being confined to the business portion of the town no families are rendered destitute or homeless but the visitation is a sad blow to the business and prosperity of the town To day is bright and pleasant

Not Enough Trade for Currency.

From the Scranton Pa. Republican

The prevalent trouble is not as the inflationists suppose the deficiency of currency to meet the wants of trade, but the deficiency of trade to meet the excessive volume of currency The merchants want customers the capitalists want employment for their money the operatives want paying work, the railroads want business The inactivity of trade prevents the free circulation of money When trade is prosperous the people can manage with almost any condition of currency When business is universally dull, the soundest currency cannot render things active All the financiers in Europe could not reverse that

The Boot on the Other Leg.

From the Raleigh N C News

The fullest and most absolute protection is and shall be guaranteed every colored man who desires to vote the Democratic ticket and colored men may unite and that in the divisions and public patronage the Democratic party are determined shall have no share on those who sustain and support it While it will always be just to the colored man that the Democracy is the party which has always shown a disposition to do him justice, and which will ever continue to do so, it will be by the very solid Democratic majority which it can command Those Democrats employed under Democratic rule and colored citizens and others who will not vote with us are in the same position as the Democrats employed under Republican rule and who will not support the Republican ticket will be dismissed

Assistant Postmaster General Tyner stated when in Cincinnati that he was for Grant himself well as the best candidate for a third term He said further that he could give us this assurance and he was there after fully informed in Washington

A good many settlers are going into the Nestucca valley in Tillamook county A wagon road has been made from there to Yamhill

Robert Knott, who was killed by Brash Hall at Umatilla last week, was from Yamhill county He was raised from childhood by Mr Tom Robison

Wm Anderson who is constructing the Yamhill railroad says he will have the track laid to Sheridan by September 1st and to Dallas by October 15

A meeting of citizens of Coos Bay is called to take into consideration the propriety of an organization for the purpose of getting a concert of action for the improvement of Coos Bay bar

Carlton, Yamhill county has two churches two shoemaker shops, two blacksmith shops one harness shop one store and one saloon J B Smith has his new storehouse almost completed, and intends putting in a good stock of goods as soon as it is done

Yamhill Reporter The effect of the drought upon the country is rather unsightly to the average Oregonian Many little creeks and brooklets in the foothills which usually run the season through have disappeared entirely this summer and the larger streams are remarkably reduced in size

Articles of incorporations have been filed in the secretary of state's office incorporating the Hood river and Dutch flat water ditch company The object of the incorporation is to bring water from the east fork of Hood river Wasco county, into Dutch flat, for the purpose of irrigation, for stock and domestic convenience

Yamhill letter I hear of several men getting their hands badly cut while feeding sheaf wheat to the thresher It is done in cutting the bands, which must be cut by a stroke of a hatchet, the ordinary way being too slow and if the hand cutter fails to strike the second time he will be very apt to meet the hand of the feeder, as he reaches for the sheaf

Ex Sheriff Dale of Yamhill, is "behind with the county and as yet is unable to make a settlement The amount cannot be known till it is ascertained what taxes marked as delinquent have been actually paid in, but it is the right the deficiency will be between five and ten thousand dollars, which his sureties must pay

Col Nesmith is said to have 2 000 acres of grain this year He also has some 10 000 bushels of fruits of all kinds—apples pears and plums—which he says he has not time to gather but that he would like some energetic man of family to move into his vacant house and bring a Plummer fruit drier with him and preserve the large amount of fruit now going to waste

Salem Statesman Early in the week a team hitched to a self binder on Mr Wm Caplinger's farm on the prairie, ran off through a standing field of wheat containing about 100 acres Strange to say, the machine kept together and bound every bundle that came to it with lightning rapidity When the team was stopped it had nicely bound about 150 bundles, but the swath was crooked rather than the tangle of the Mollala

The Coos Bay News says "the entrance to Coos Bay is as good as it ever was, and vessels of the same class that have always sailed here sail here now—in fact at the present time there are three masted schooners laying at the wharves, drawing as much as twelve feet of water and not one has been detained a day for a month But with vessels of this class, carrying three or four hundred tons, we cannot compete with the cheaper freights of Puget Sound and foreign vessels

Following are given as particulars of the tragedy at Roseburg on Wednesday evening of which we have heretofore published an announcement Wm Daly, formerly of Salem, married in Douglas county a lady named Woodward It is reported that he had recently found attractions in a cyprian and his wife left him On Wednesday evening he visited the residence of his wife's father to see his child, and left, starting away to the main street of the town A few rods from the house he met his wife's brother J Woodward when an angry altercation took place, during which Woodward suddenly drew a knife and plunged it twice into the breast of Daly The latter person, quicker than thought, after he was stabbed drew a pistol and shot Woodward, both falling to the ground dead

THE PALOUSE COUNTRY

PALOUSE CITY Aug 10 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Permit me to say a few words about our country which lies north of the Snake and Clearwater rivers and along the western slope of the Coeur d Alene mountains, and takes its name from the Palouse river, which rises in the aforesaid mountains and running in a westerly direction empties into Snake river Its extent is variously estimated at from six to ten million acres of good farming land only a mere fraction of which has yet been taken It is mostly rough prairie land covered with bunch grass and capable of sustaining a dense population Large colonies can find room for settlement where very few if any, claims have yet been taken Scattered in different parts of this country are 11 steam and water power sawmills employing mills 10 trading places of more or less importance with more in immediate prospect Several churches and schools have been organized

The climate is mild with very great freedom from severe and tempestuous storms An occasional hard winter makes it rather unsafe to raise cattle and sheep without preparing some winter feed although cattle will generally live and thrive and sometimes fatten in winter It is not at all necessary to provide feed for horses which run on the range

It produces abundant crops of wheat oats barley flax rye, timothy potatoes onions, and the various garden vegetables, while the more tender vines do not always do well on account of the late and early frosts I think it entirely safe to say that apples plums cherries raspberries blackberries strawberries currants gooseberries and the like will do well while peaches grapes, &c., will not do well except in favored localities Timber mostly pine and fir of good quality is abundant and quite accessible in the eastern part while considerable timber is found along some of the streams farther west mostly on the prairie

It is really an extension of the famous Walla Walla country and fully equal to it in productiveness, the immediate country being subject to Orofino and Lewiston as a trading point I believe it to be right that the Columbia and Snake rivers should be opened up by judicious improvements and we ought to look to our representatives to plead and labor with our delegation in congress with all their might and main to procure an appropriation for continuing the [illegible]

[THE EXCITEMENT IN ENGLAND OVER THE ANGLO-TURKISH TREATY—AN INSANE ASSERTION—DESCRIPTION OF THE NEW CYPRIANCOS]

From Gladstone's Speech at Southwark July 9

Do not let us despair from ourselves that by the unity of Berlin some great results for humanity have been gained Much greater losses have been inflicted upon Turkey than she would have been called upon to endure had the plans we submitted been accepted Between six and seven millions of Christians were lately tributary to Turkey have now become independent in Roumania and Servia and five millions of men who were so utterly subject to Turkey as to be willing that her captive are now either attached to the independent states of Roumania Servia and Montenegro or they are to be erected into the friendly independent principality province of Bulgaria So that even more than eleven million men the authority of the sultan has been either entirely abrogated or reduced as to leave him a sibling [illegible] amount of pecuniary benefit while the power of government over the persons of Bulgaria between the Balkans and the Danube has been entirely taken away from him in full pursuance of what you will find in the treaty of the treaty of what has been known to this country as the bag and baggage policy (Laughter) Well, what I say is this—that as far as Russia is concerned to Russia have been given the things which for her own interests and in the fulfillment of her own mode considered herself entitled to require She required that a portion of Bessarabia which had been part of the free state of Roumania should again be brought under the despotic institutions, and to that arrangement the British government have consented I required that a heavy indemnity should be paid to her by Turkey and that arrangement made by the treaty of San Stefano between Turkey and Russia remains untouched by the treaty of Berlin I do not greatly envy Russia her position as a end to or of Turkey—(laughter)—but this I say that as to Russia herself and the purposes of Russia to go to war with Turkey she has only to call upon Turkey to pay up her debts and if Turkey does not pay she has against Turkey what according to the law of nations is known to be a good cause of war This is the case she can make Britain has as long as she thinks it convenient and also when she thinks it convenient to do so produced and found with not publish all the reasons for the step we will grant our reply to say I for continuance in [illegible] BY BIS

Assistant Postmaster General Tyner stated when in Cincinnati that he was for Grant himself well as the best candidate for a third term He said further that he could give us this assurance and he was there after fully informed in Washington

The U S Circuit court in Cincinnati, in session at Walnut Hills, on Wednesday, decided that the Cincinnati Southern railroad company is entitled to the land granted by congress to aid in the construction of the road, and that the state of Ohio has no claim to the land

Strange, Wasn't It?

[From the New York Times]

A gentleman who is summering at Long Branch with his wife left the latter comfortably seated in her room and went out for a stroll along the beach It was between day light and dark, and the shore was nearly deserted After walking slowly over the hard, cool sand for a short time he descried a handsome female figure in the distance He waved his handkerchief, and the signal was unhesitatingly returned It was growing darker and he was nearly by the side of the lady before he saw that she was his wife How strange that we should recognize each other at such a distance both said in the same breath Then they dropped the subject

VALUATIONS FOR TAXES

Need of the application of some rule or principle to check the evil consequences arising out of our system of allowing deductions of indebtedness from valuations of property from taxation has long been felt in our state The subject has often been discussed but it has not yet been possible to convince the legislature of the efficacy of any plan And yet the abuse of this system of deducting indebtedness is so gross and at the same time so manifest that every one must admit the necessity of an effort to check it All the debts returned as due to persons to be taxed are but a small proportion of the great amount of indebtedness of taxpayers for which exemption is claimed and most that is so claimed is necessarily allowed In a debate in the constitutional convention in New York some years ago these words were spoken "In the country and in the towns and cities of the interior of the state the rule is almost universal for persons to get up an indebtedness of some kind, so that their property may escape taxation Some persons will give their notes to their children others will exchange notes with their neighbors and others will enter into obligations for the purpose of creating a liability just about the time the assessor comes round It would not be too much to say that this language applied to the methods employed in Oregon to evade the just measure of taxation would be in many cases no exaggeration It is in effect, as David A. Wells has remarked in an essay on the principles of taxation to take a portion of the property of one man for the benefit of the state because he is honest or ignorant, or unable to conceal its possession and to allow the property of another man to escape because he is dishonest, cunning and willing to forswear himself, and such policy simply imposes a penalty for honesty or ignorance and encourages dishonesty and duplicity" This is not too strongly stated But since some rule as to exemption of indebtedness must probably prevail, it would seem that a portion of the more flagrant abuses of the present system might be cut off or prevented by the adoption of the rule employed in Massachusetts The laws of that state do not allow indebtedness to offset or diminish the amount of tangible property, the only allowance for liabilities being a provision that debts due from the person to be taxed may be deducted from, or offset, debts due to him but that no debts be allowed to offset or decrease actual property A provision like this might operate as a strong check upon the cunning and unscrupulous method by which many succeed in getting rid of taxation That it would be wholly effective could not be supposed but it should be remembered that the struggle in this matter is against a difficulty for which no one of our states has as yet been able to provide a fully adequate remedy.

EXPORTATION OF PROVISIONS

It is interesting to note how largely the exports for the United States of those commodities classed as "provisions" are increasing Until quite recently the values were quite insignificant compared with those now reported The bureau of statistics has furnished a statement of exports of this class for June, the last month of the last fiscal year, for the eleven months preceding it The aggregates for June were these Beef, 8,235 317 pounds valued at $337,893, pork, 4 974 225 pounds, valued at $284 852, hams, 26 256 028 pounds valued at $2,207,317, bacon, 10 513,414 pounds, valued at $775,163 lard, 21 775,177 pounds, valued at $1,894,841. The total value for the month was $5,841 068 But this is by no means an average month for this class of exports. For the eleven months preceding June last the values were these Bacon and hams, $48,754 918 fresh beef, $2,780,783, salted or cured beef $4 528 412, butter $3,483,598, cheese, $11 737,924, cured fish $2 688,320; lard, $23,068 557, preserved meats, $4,037,490, pork, $4,620 869.

This is a very heavy aggregate As it includes only leading provisions it seems probable that the entire quantity of animal food sent from the United States during the last fiscal year was worth more than $125,000,000 and it manifestly formed a large proportion of the entire exports of the country Nearly all these exports were sent from New York, the combined values shipped from other ports scarcely amounting to one-tenth of the quantity sent from that city Boston is the only other city that has any part of this export trade worth mentioning but her business in this line is beginning to grow rapidly, and she is making exertions to increase it by controlling a share of the products of the west Beef from the Pacific slope, in large amount, swells the total of the export values above stated

A letter is printed in the Philadelphia Times from the late Gen. Robert E. Lee written on the 11th of January 1865 to Hon Andrew Hunter, approving the suggested use of negroes in the rebel army Gen Lee proposed to give immediate freedom to all who enlisted, with a bounty and freedom at the end of the war to the families of those who discharged their duties faithfully whether they survived or not accompanied by a well digested plan of gradual and general emancipation It is probable that if the war had continued a year or two longer, that Gen Lee's recommendation of using negro soldiers would have been adopted But it came too late to be of service to the confederacy Naturally a political establishment founded on the idea of slavery would be slow to consider the policy of emancipation

"The Republican party" says the Standard gravely, "brought upon the country the evils of which Kearney complains We beg to dissent These evils are the work of no political party We refer to remoter causes and higher authority The decree, 'in the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread' is the source of the evils of which Kearney complains and we do not suppose that any political party will be able to set aside that decree It is even to be questioned whether complete success in any of the Democratic party in every branch of the government would alter it

Postmaster General Key [illegible] in the Democratic ranks of Tennessee [illegible] fair wrangle out of her political [illegible] held by a majority of her [illegible] the argument of the Democratic [illegible] there Judge Key says as follows "We hold as our fathers did that [illegible] men who murdered our fathers and robbed your household The Democratic boods would be an outrage Mr Key says the better class of Democrats repudiate its sentiments and will not politically affiliate with those who hold them

Massachusetts contains 1,000 people who are consumers but not producers or rather persons who are out of work, but the superintendent of the state bureau of statistics has learned in the course of an official visit throughout the state that a large number of this class and a still larger number of well to do people have gone west since last winter and that many others intend moving toward the setting sun before winter

A LADY IN ATTENDANCE

To the Cigar and Tobacco Trade in Oregon and Washington Territory:

In order to sell our Cigars and Tobacco as cheap as possible, we have come to the conclusion hereafter not to send an agent to Oregon and Washington Territory to solicit orders and make collections We are thereby enabled to save large expenses, And in consequence, will sell our Cigars and Tobacco, of corresponding quality cheaper than any other house in the city

Thanking you for the kind patronage with which you have favored us heretofore we shall be pleased to receive your valued orders and remittances direct Respectfully,

AN INCENDIARY SHOT —A man named H McLaughlin was shot in the region of the stomach on Wednesday night near the Territorial saloon by officer Gwynne McLaughlin had it appears a quarrel with some women of ill repute and to get revenge attempted to set fire to the house in which they lived He was caught in the act of it by officer Gwynne and started to conduct him to the lock up but failing to comply with the command the officer fired a shot McLaughlin threw up his hands and exclaimed Don't shoot again, I am shot" Soon after the shooting McLaughlin was conveyed to the St Vincent Hospital and medical attention summoned An effort was made to discover by probing the exact location of the ball but without success At last accounts the wounded man was lying in a very critical condition and, under the circumstances no particular blame can be attached to officer Gwynne

FINE WHEAT —The Syracuse New York Journal of the 29 h ult says We have been shown a sample of Oregon winter white wheat received by Mr D P Phelps from a friend (O S Phelps) at Portland, Oregon, which for perfection in color size and fullness of berry we have never seen exceeded It is said to weigh from 65 to 69 pounds to the bushel—three pounds more than the celebrated Australian wheat, making the heaviest grown anywhere and commanding the highest price in the Liverpool market. Mr Phelps has placed the sample in the hands of Mr Gorton Nottingham a painstaking farmer of DeWitt who will carefully test its alleged claims to superiority, in the soil and climate of old Onondaga

DIVINE SERVICE.—The Portland Seamen's Friend Society will hold their next regular Sabbath day services on board the beautiful bark Belle of Oregon to morrow at 2 o clock promptly By the courtesy of Captain Merriman arrangements will be made to accommodate all persons who attend and every facility will be provided to make it perfectly safe and convenient for ladies to pass on board from the upper wharf at the foot of C street. A cordial invitation is extended to all by Chaplain Stubbs

TO BE FITTED UP —The new light-draft boat sister to the Annie Faxon, above Celilo, will not have her passenger accommodations put in till next spring, but will content herself with being a freight boat this season Having no weight of cabin or furniture to carry, during the low water, she will be able to carry just that much more grain By next spring she will be fitted up, in exactly similar style to the Faxon undoubtedly the best boat for her cost that this company has ever owned.

MONEY TURNED OVER.—In a statement published in the OREGONIAN some time ago regarding funds raised to assist the people of Umatilla county at the beginning of the Indian war it was reported that the sum of $64 14 balance was left in the hands of Hon D P Thompson It should have been stated that this money was turned over to the relief committee and with other funds, was used to good purpose

HANDSOME STONE WORK.—The work on Mr H C Leonard's new brick and stone building, at the corner of North First and A streets is progressing as rapidly as possible and the building will be ready for occupancy in the course of a month We understand that certain parties in San Francisco have been negotiating for the building but the kind of business it is proposed to carry on is not known Few buildings in Portland will be of more substantial or present a more handsome appearance than Mr Leonard's The front of the building and the outside of the southern wall are constructed of the front is The style of architecture of the front is Tuscan Messrs Trewavas & Ballantyne the well known stone masons have the contract, and at present have a force of about twenty men engaged in shaping the stone. The work is being done in a very substantial manner, and reflects much credit on the skill and workmanship of the contractors. They expect to complete the stone work in about three weeks Messrs Trewavas & Ballantyne also have the contract for doing the stone work of the Catholic Church

AN INCENDIARY SHOT.—A man named H McLaughlin was shot in the region of the stomach on Wednesday night near the Terminus saloon, by officer Gwyne McLaughlin had, it appears, a quarrel with some women of low repute and to get revenge attempted to set fire to the house in which they lived. He was caught in the act of incendiarism by officer Gwyne and started to run He was told to stop, but failing to comply with the command, the officer fired a shot. McLaughlin threw up his hands and exclaimed, "Don't shoot again, I'm shot Soon after the shooting McLaughlin was conveyed to the St. Vincent Hospital and medical attention summoned An effort was made to discover by probing the exact location of the ball, but without success At last accounts the wounded man was lying in a very critical condition, and under the circumstances, no particular blame can be attached to officer Gwyne

BRIEF NOTES

Chester due this evening

We have the genuine train oil

Moonlight excursion next Monday night

Pigeon and glass balls shooting at the Willamette House this afternoon

Jos. Koan has gone below on a turtle speculation He will be heard from shortly

The old Anglo-American Telegraph building is now located on Front street between Jefferson and Madison

Davidson Bros. have sent to the Exposition in the possession of the Oregon Pioneer Association the finest photographs $15 and cabinets $3 per dozen, which will speak for themselves. These special artists for colored work—Mr. A. H. Wilson.—Has no equal in the state.

DRAMATIC NOTES.

General John Maguire is in Carson

At last accounts Mr Lou F Howard was in New York

Mr and Mrs Irving and Mr Edward Darley are in Australia

Mr Harry M Brown is now stage manager at Baldwin's theater

At last accounts John Jack and Miss Annie Irwin were at Auckland New Zealand

Capt Jack Mr and Mrs P J Wade and Fred Gore are somewhere in British Columbia

The dramatic combination under the joint management of Messrs Herne & Fitzgerald will leave San Francisco for Portland next month

Miss Addie F Rodgers who was here some months ago is now in Philadelphia She has been engaged as juvenile lady in a company there

The exact whereabouts of Frank Jones the self styled musical son of Momus is at present unknown When last heard from he was in Kalamazoo

Miss Lotta Chissold and J W Clough will give a dramatic and musical entertainment at Metropolitan Temple on the 16th inst assisted by a large number of local artists

Miss Annie Pixley is under engagement to Mr John McDonough to appear in Miss It is more than probable McDonough and Miss Pixley will be supported by Miss Katy Mayhew the owner of the play

Says a San Francisco exchange of the 11th The friends of little Zoe Tittle, a talented child who for a year or two past has been prominent on our local stage, intend taking her east in a few days for the purpose of securing engagements She is bright and thoroughly familiar with such juvenile business as might be required of her

Mr J M Ward has effected arrangements with the trustees of the Turn Verein society for leasing the hall for a short dramatic season Some new scenery has been added to the stage and a few slight alterations made The new season will open next Thursday evening and continue for the remainder of the week Should it prove profitable, the season will be continued longer Mr Ward will have the entire management of the business He proposes to give a series of light entertainments—farces, burlesques, interspersed with songs, dances, specialties

FASHION NOTES.

The "Aimee" is a new and favorite style of slipper

Afternoon dances are the latest freak of fancy in the fashionable world

Vests for ladies are much in favor as they do away with wraps in the street

For second mourning, gloves are stitched across the back with lilac or gray

Handsome shades for chandeliers are square, with heavily gilt borders.

The favorite flowers for the hand painted hats are forget me-nots and poppies.

Short dresses are so much favored that train dresses are only made for house wear

Worth is suspected of making the pannier the thin end of the wedge for reintroducing crinoline

The habit of wearing bathing shoes to the water's edge is a good one, but in the water they are only in the way

The wide white lace cuffs grow in favor and are now worn on the sleeves which reach only to the elbow, as well as on the long, tight sleeve.

Mignonette and sage green are still much worn particularly on the worked Russian bands for dresses, or in ribbon bows for dresses

Many stylish bonnets are trimmed simply with long loops of narrow white watered ribbon, which is the favorite ribbon and color this summer

A REBUKE

By the Judges to Albert Weber for publishing a falsehood:

AT THE CENTENNIAL NAMING members of the Jury of Group XXV at the International Exhibition Philadelphia, 1876 do hereby certify that the following is the true basis for the award made to the same to Mr Albert Weber of New York viz

For sympathetic pure and rich tone contrasted with great power as shown in a grand Piano of large dimensions These three styles Cabinet and upright pianos also Square and with this there is added and exhibited the same time square pianos of the same excellence with excellence of workmanship

We more over declare that the following remarks by Mr Albert Weber are false and without foundation in fact to wit "I have received the only medal and diploma given to pianos in the Centennial Exhibition for the reason that my pianos are the only three vibrating scale and upright pianos which stand the test of time" and that the statement made by him in the report of the Centennial Commission to the effect that "I have received the only medal and diploma given to pianos in the Centennial Exhibition for the reason that my pianos are the only three vibrating scale and upright pianos" is false and without foundation in fact

JOHN HENRY

Dated at Philadelphia this 16th day of August A D 1878

Now, Messrs Steinway publish fourteen months after the close of the Centennial a different set of figures on grand Piano etc They admit publicly that while all the rest of the piano manufacturers have quietly attended to their business they have traveled thousands of miles made two ocean voyages and carried on an immense correspondence covering thirteen months persuading confusing manipulating the judges, with a slightly different result

If Messrs Steinway or their agent here will prove that the above was not the correct original figures as handed in by the judges before the close of the Exhibition we will give to the poor of Portland our check for $500 Also if Messrs Steinway or their agents at Salem Albany the Dalles or Walla Walla will prove that the official figures were not 98 out of a possible 96, which is four less than Weber received we will give to the poor of each of the above cities our check for $500

The fact of the matter is the Weber piano has become by far too popular to suit the interests of that competing firm and they now perceive that their former prestige is ading fast before the growing popularity of Mr Weber, and every possible means is being resorted to to crush him

Finally we would add that while it is unsafe to trust an unscrupulous concern like that of Messrs Steinway whose questionable practices and manipulations at exhibitions have become notorious and whom we believe are capable of doing anything except sticking to the truth yet we still have so much faith in the power of truth that we are loth to believe that even they would conjure them selves and dare to come forward and swear that Weber's figures, 98 as published throughout the world before the close of the exhibition are wrong

Does any sane man or woman believe it possible that Messrs Steinway would wait thirteen months after the close of the Centennial to correct Weber's statement of figures which if could have been done while the commission lasted was in Philadelphia in session in thirteen hours, or surely in thirteen days? NEVER

Weber's Award signed by all the Judges reads as follows

For sympathetic pure and rich tone combined with great power as shown in three styles Grand Square and Upright Pianos which show intelligence and artistic construction in planning and exhibit which in the same are very prompt to its requirements together with excellence of workmanship

The above Diplomas signed by every member of the commission and Judges on Pianos can be seen at Webers warerooms corner Fifth Avenue and 16th street New York city any time

Notwithstanding the unscrupulous effort which is being made to blind the reputation of the only rival they stand in fear of the Weber Piano is still continue to hold its face the with the public in its concert room and the parlor

CLIFF HOUSE, Aug 15 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

For the past few days the weather has been quite cool and occasionally mists blow over from the ocean closely resembling a juvenile Webfoot rain

A large number of Portlanders recently passed through here bound for Ostertag's where court is to be held Judge Green presides We noted the familiar faces of Mrs A J Dunlap Thomas Strong and sisters Wm Sargent Mr Mahrkey George Teasdale and a large number of others who will probably visit Astoria on Saturday and then return to this place Excursions are coming and going each way daily Monday Mr H H Northup and family returned home also Mrs Col Drake Mrs Emma Cobb Mr Dunbar Mrs Bachtel and some others Sunday there was a party visited us from Astoria consisting of Messrs Coe Clay Beck Caldwell Page and Little Clarke Messrs Beck Ellis Chance Snow and others of Astoria It was refreshing indeed to greet such fair faces and mingle in social glee Monday Mr Parry visited the cape inspected the lighthouse and fort and stopped at Lot Stevens on the return to see where the boys were pleasantly and profitably spent

There is good fishing on the bends in front of Clatsop there is no rent to pay there so several fishermen earn a livelihood by catching salmon which are abundant in this locality Campers here have had considerable sport thus far in bathing hunting and catching fish also taking trips to different points of interest near here

To day Dr I J Nicklin and family return but we expect many more visitors from Portland and other places ere the season closes Mr Stout sells vegetables fruit and all the necessaries of life here, and the prices are fair, everything considered

'WARBLERS ENTERTAINMENT.

The grand event of the season was an entertainment and concert held at the Bay View House last evening by a company styling themselves the 'Portland Warblers' The programme was arranged in one day but was well managed throughout All the country talent attended the concert and were gratified exceedingly especially as they did not expect anything entertaining or real good when prepared with such little time and so few conveniences Captain Williams generously allowed the use of a large room in his hotel for the entertainment and added the performance in every way Prof Fink added very considerably to enhance the success of the concert as he is a skilled player on musical instruments Fleming (?) posters were displayed at the hotel and among a gorgeous concert and entertainment, so by eight o'clock the room was jammed with anxious parents, expectant visitors and friends Part first opened with a 'greeting song after which Mrs Dr T L Nicklin recited very cleverly a humorous piece entitled "Socrates Snooks" Prof Fink and daughter (Mrs Leek) sang a duet with guitar accompaniment, which was loudly encored and regarded by some as the choicest thing of the evening Mr G Shindler read a selection with good effect, and then came a song in Welsh by Mrs Capt Williams She sang very properly, was loudly praised and pronounced a splendid effort Part second opened by a grand chorus, audience included "Glory, Hallelujah" was the well known title Several instruments lent additional effect to the powerful tones of that chorus The Dumb Orator" was skillfully executed by a person well known to readers of the P C Advocate, who performed his part so well that it didn't appear like action" simply Music, solo, 'Do they think of me at home' rendered very nicely by C E Northup responded to by a chorus of warblers Bessie Thompson spoke 'The Blackberry Girl' Twas real well recited and showed careful training Little Carrie Shindler sang two or three pieces inimitably 'Funny when you Feel that Way was a gem so cute and pretty which was vociferously applauded, and the little miss made a decided hit' She also looked sweetly and acted well in two charades 'Old Woman in the Shoe' and 'Good Night' Prof Fink rendered the 'Drummer's Serenade" (an original composition) on the guitar, in his usual skillful manner Messrs Cornell and Nicklin and Mrs J H Acton acted the dramatis personæ of a charade, 'Champagne" All the parts were well sustained, and the presentation was greeted with shouts and cheers of praise Chorus 'America," and a cute tableau 'Good Night, closed the very successful entertainment Everybody lent a willing hand and took an interest in the affair, which was what made everything pass off so agreeably MONS HUYIO

TO THE PUBLIC.

There is nothing so well calculated to put the average reader out of humor as to commence an interesting article upon some incidental discovery Indian war news etc and by different and just as the happy perusers mind is thoroughly infatuated with the subject starting with great effort to grasp it in all its bearings away goes the author loud in his praise of some hair renewer balsam or other just as the OCEAN OF PUGILISTIC LIVER AND KIDNEY REGULATOR cannot be truthfully called a patent medicine (although we have copyrighted to prevent a spurious article being palmed off on the public) as the following account of its origin will show

For many years past hundreds of the best citizens of the city when troubled with dyspepsia, loss of appetite irregularities of the liver and kidneys, have called upon Mr Pfunder at his Pharmaceutical Palace corner Ash and First streets and requested a compound that would build their system up in such a manner that would enable them to resist the many changes of climate and every case there was this comparatively unknown remedy given and its results were of such satisfactory nature and so highly recommended by those who used it that the purely vegetable compound made from Oregon herbs and roots, created a large demand for itself and upon its own merits It was then known as Pfunder's Regulator Desiring to benefit the community at large, Mr Pfunder conceived the idea of placing this great Regulator before the people and what has been the result the sale of the Oregon Blood Purifier has already been greater than that of any medicine manufactured on the Pacific Coast

You will therefore observe that this is no new nostrum put up to sell It has been weighed fairly in the balances and not found wanting

We deeply sympathize with the public in being so often imposed upon in purchasing many worthless so called which by the large proportion of spirituous liquors used in their preparation are most injurious to the delicately formed tissues of the human system

The celebrated Oregon Blood Purifier contains no alcoholic stimulant (in plain language refuse whiskey) as many lately discovered Oregon Herbs who's extract has been found to be an excellent and superior tonic and no serious results can follow the use of the Regulator

To Women in Pregnancy it prevents nausea and vomiting, regulating the bowels and keeping the system in perfect

CYPRIAN DREAMS

From The Fall Mall Gazette

The Britain sent to roam
Among the Paphian sticking doves
Of Paradise Bailey Barrington
To foster the cradle of the Loves

Tis thus the longed for peace has come
I tarry years for metrical number
And in the I Beautiful line
The easier Question falls a slumber

Is it the Golden Age again—
Kisses and wine and the day
Is it a new Saturnian reign—
Grey saturnalias as Vivian Grey

The world it is unveil let us learn
A moment on the waking gnome
Of the bright Dawn in which we burn
This inchoate millium sun

Of Bengal tigers I sing
The terrible hands of Astracan
Of unkempt cossacks of the Don
All sun lit with the Mohammedan

Of poisonous wheels of Treasand
No more their noisome honey brewing
Of the Levantine vagabond
No more dishonest trade pursuing

Of the wild wind Euroclydon
Tamed to the air of Lydia's fan
Of the slave mart where slave is none
Of Georgian or Circassian

Good yet it smacks of much nello
To lay peace on the Capitan breast
And in the island Tocondin
To think of Jean on his nest

The Lady Venus had for sponse
A smith—the prehistoric Krupp
And when with him she stored to house
The god of battle took her up

Who knows not that in mood supernal
Love makes eternity a boast?
And who not knows that this eternal
Is five years at the very most?

Yet still long let the Treaty live
And—since it is a ladies wine—
In wine of Cyprus we will give Libations to it saccharine

Long may the British bunting fly
Over ribbons of the Cyprine fair
Long may the British lordly sky
With flattering Cupids high in air

Long may the railway metals laid
On isle pers to the Persian Gulf
Foretend the sulphurous tirade
Of any British born Eruiphi!

Long may this little Cyprian fool ng
Affright the Russ amuse the Turk,
Make Sheikhs and Khans accept our ruling
And save us from some rougher work

WHO FOLLOWED OLE JOCK?

BY M QUAD

When the police after a hot chase behind "The Baby Duke" as the boys called Ned Raven, the bootblack, failed to catch him they said he was the wickedest boy in Detroit They knew that he stole doves, played cards, coaxed dogs from home threw stones through windows, encouraged dog fights and made it his business to have a row with some other boy regularly each day, and they declared that his escape from state prison was truly wonderful They peered into the dark alley down which he had disappeared and went on to say that the Duke had no home, no chance no friends, and that all the preachers and all the prayers couldn't drive the devil out of him for even one minute That is one side of the story and there wasn't much exaggeration in the statements of the police. As little English remarked

"We bootblacks is all purty bad, I suppose, but The Baby Duke—bless your eyes! Why he kin swear more in two minutes than the rest of us kin in all day, and he'd set out to crack a bank as quick as he'd pry a board off a hen coop!

When the Duke plunged into the alley and shook the police, he felt ugly, and wanted to get even with some one Old Jock, the rag-picker, lived down there in darkness and filth His old shanty was hardly fit for a barn, and the old man went about in rags and always looked as if it was hunger alone that kept his legs moving Sick or well, home or abroad on the streets, no one minded him and ever cats and dogs turned aside to pass his grim old habitation

I'll go in and give the old cadaver a great whirl I'll mustered the Duke, as he halted before the shanty, and he kicked the door open with a bang

In the old room, faintly lighted by a dirty, sputtering candle and cluttered up with bags and rags, old shoe bills, cans, bottles, and scrap-iron, the Duke found his victim. Old Jock was abed The boy had slept on the wharves, under coal sheds, in barns and in boxes, but he had never had such a miserable bed as that before him There was herb tea or something of the sort within reach of old Jock, and it was plain enough that the rag picker was very ill

"You are a good boy to come in and see the old man!" whispered Jock as the boy stood before him, and the words changed the Duke's plans in an instant

"Are you sick?" he kindly asked

"Sick—awful!" replied old Jock "I haven't been out of bed for three days and had neither food nor fire I was afraid I must die alone for none of the people around here like me"

No one liked old Jock Every one's hand was raised against him There was some thing in the situation to call out his sympathy, and, going nearer the bed, he said

"I hain't neither a French cook nor a wet nurse, but I guess I kin collar this thing and turn up a lo e hand The first thing is to ring up the curtain and call out that tragedy entitled a good square meal I've got a little chunk in my pocket, and I'll run out and surround a few eatables"

When he returned he had two or three eggs, a pinch of tea, some crackers and a bit of meat, and in a quarter of an hour he was ready to remark

"The festive board will now be set. We can't afford all the delicacies of the seasons, and we haven't got 'taters served up on six different plates but I've seen the time I wouldn't go back on this fodder"

The old man had not spoken a word and his eyes had been closed most of the time He let the Duke prop him up in bed and hold a cup of tea to his lips, but after trying to swallow a little, he wastingly said

"It's no use, boy—I'm too near death's door to want food! I'm as grateful as an old man—a dying old man, can be, but the most you can do is to sit here with me and see me die I didn't know you at first, but now I see you are the boy called The Duke"

"Yours, very truly," replied the boy as he put the cup on the old table

"Boy! Do you know what I was when I was a lad like you?" earnestly asked old Jock

"I owned a postoffice maybe or drove coach for the Czar of Russia, replied the Duke, as he began satisfying his appetite.

"I was a wild, bad boy!" said the old man turning his head so that he could survey the room "I ran away from home—I stole, cheated, hated all that was good See where I am to night! I am dying here in this hovel, feared by children shunned by men and women and not one human being in all this wide world to clasp my hand as the mystic curtain of death shuts down and makes my soul afraid!"

"Hain't I here?" reprovingly queried the Duke "Hain't I going to stay right here till the green curtain comes down on the last act in this sad tragedy?

"Boy! you've got a heart after all!" whispered old Jock Come a little nearer Let me take your hand You were good to come in and sit with me. I've heard many bad stories about you, but now I believe that people have wronged you They have been quick to see your faults, and slow to admit that there was any good in you You are not such a bad boy

It was the first kind word the Duke had heard for a year He forgot the gloomy hovel the dying bed and the fact that men had hunted him but an hour before, and a lump came into his throat as he said

If folks nag me around I've got to go even hain't I"

I know they have been too hard on you my boy but you've got a bad name you do many bad things I've been good like you I hated people because I thought they hated me I thought they weren't giving me a chance but now I look back and see that I didn't give myself a chance Here I am to night unthought of dying and to be buried like a dog? Do you want to come to this

The Duke glanced at him, then at the wrinkled and hideous face before him, and replied

"It's tuff!"

"And the hereafter!" gasped old Jock after a long silence "Boy! what becomes of such souls as mine?"

The Duke was silent

"You won't leave me, will you?" wailed the old man "I wish we had more candles, for I can hardly see you! Put your hand on my forehead as a woman would—come closer to me boy! You have been good to the old man and I hope you may be rewarded I wish men had let you alone and talked kindly to you instead of hunting you trail like a pack of wolves

Everybody has been against me—spoiled the Duke his heart quite broken When I've asked for work they've waved me away and I've had to beg and steal to get bread Everybody says I'm on the road to the gallows

I hear a moaning as of the waves rushing over the rocks afar off and the old man as his claw fingers tight and the grasp on the boy's hand Yes I know how they've used you Tony I'm not going to let you die alone Were your friends here I'd send for them but as it is I'll do what I can

Don't talk! Don't whisper! cried the Duke as he bent his head close to the white face

I—know—it—can't—be—long—the old man at long intervals Busy all night

If they'll let me choke it the Duke

So dark and I'm so cold! Hark

He raised his head as if to listen when he fell back heavily

Soon the neighborhood men and women who in morning came Well let us ghost it by which by to a pauper's grave It's the best I can do for a week!

But when the wagon went up to haul in the coffin the Duke was there at the old hovel to quietly say

He had also kindly everybody was at him and he hain't have to show

And I will carry it up asked the driver

No! I'll walk behind I won't make a very long funeral procession but I am going to follow old Jock to his grave

And he did He was alone and the way was long but as he stood beside the open grave that night and his wild locks flung around his reckless face he said

Be hanged if this is the first dirt I ham't so mean as I was yesterday and that dead man in the grave is the cause of it I'll help river him up and then go look for work and see if folks will give me a show

The Duke has been a bad bad boy Let us aid him to be good

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this East by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases Catarrh Bronchitis and all diseases of the throat and chest in an entirely new system only known to himself Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs including Spermatorrhea Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach bowels liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of and never fails to give relief at once and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES

to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual This accounts in part for his great professional success

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who can not well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the diseases as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will forward the proper medicines or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and advice Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain two postage stamps

Everything strictly confidential and honorable

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia as more than one of his Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland requiring medical treatment of the proper kind who desire to consult with me will please beware of those who may try to coax them away to other so called Doctors through pretended friendship for the patients Look out for them they are strangers prompted by selfish motives and what they can make Be sure and ask for DR LAURA M BRENAN the Medical Lecturer and read his sign on his door
